Imagine you are sitting around a table with a group of trusted peers, with hundreds of years of real-life experience and you had the opportunity to bring your most complex issues and opportunities to the group. What questions would you ask? What input and feedback would you expect to receive? How valuable would that be in assisting you to achieve both your company vision and your personal dreams?

Our members consistently highlight these 5 Most Beneficial Blocks of Value:

- Making Better Decisions (gaining broader perspectives and new insights by working on the business rather than in the business)
- Accountability (becoming better able to hold ourselves and others accountable)
- Growing (personally, professionally, and organizationally)
- Isolation Relief (from being "lonely at the top")
- Change Management (internally and externally to the business)
